METROPOLITAN NICHOLAS' MESSAGE

*B*eloved in the Lord,

After having finished a task, have you ever felt that if you were to start over you would do it differently? Have you ever wanted to start again?

My dear family in Christ, September is an opportunity for us to start over. We have finished our summer vacations, the school year is gearing up, and everything — even in the parish communities — is coming back to its normal rhythm.

So it is a time for us to start over and to make good on those kinds of things which we realized we could have done differently — and I dare say, better.

One of the issues that we should be concerned about is our worship and prayer life. Sometimes we have thought that it matters little when we arrive at our church services, because it always seems the same. Maybe it's time for us to take a renewed look at what it truly means for us to come together as a community to worship God. Maybe we will more seriously consider the fact that our own personal prayer is key in placing ourselves within a genuine Christian framework. Our worship and prayer life are key testimonies in our response to God and the many blessings which He has given us.

Another area that we need to rethink is our involvement in the Christian education of our children. What example of Christian faith and practice will they inherit from us? An example of faith or of indifference? We truly witness to these issues when our own example of Christian living does not inspire our children to become stronger Christians, able to explain the faith of the Orthodox.

How can we begin again this September? Well, look at the following ideas and let some work for you:

- Come to Church regularly — be on time!
- Encourage your children to attend Sunday School; discuss what they are learning;
- Discuss your faith with your family;
- Attend your parish Bible Study;
- Prepare for and receive communion regularly;
- Hang your icons at home, light a candle, and pray....

With prayers for a renewed beginning...

+ Metropolitan Nicholas

YOUTH MINISTRY NEWS

KICK START YOUR YOUTH MINISTRY PROGRAMS

Preparing for the Ecclesiastical New Year

By Eva Kokinos—Metropolis Youth Director

GET THE WORD OUT – Reach out to youth and parents to get them excited about the new year's programs. Here are a few suggestions:

SNAIL MAIL IS YOUR FRIEND: Don't underestimate the power of the US Postal Service! Send a postcard or flyer to the youth and parents of your community. You can also add something to the parish bulletin or mailing. Get them excited about the upcoming events and make them feel like they are welcome!

EMAIL BLAST: Send out a few emails to welcome everyone back from vacation. People get email at work, at home, and on their iPhones or Blackberry! So send out those emails and get the word out about the new year!

WEB PRESENCE: Think about posting information on your parish website. Consult with your parish priest and discuss the possibility of starting a Facebook page for your youth group. There is a Facebook page for the National GOYA Ministries.

PHONE CALLS: Good old fashioned conversation!!! What better way to connect with people than with a personal phone call. Recruit other adult volunteers to help handle some of the phone calls. Inform parents about the upcoming events and offer to update their contact information for future communication!

GET RESOURCES – Here are a few places to find very helpful resources to get youth programs moving.

Greek Orthodox Archdiocese – Department of Youth and Young Adult Ministries: The Youth Department offers a wide variety of resources for youth workers, as well as teens. Visit www.youth.goarch.org for a list of resources.

Greek Orthodox Metropolis of Detroit—Office of Youth and Young Adult Ministries: The Metropolis Youth Office provides resources, as well as youth worker support for parishes. Please visit www.detroit.goarch.org or contact Eva Kokinos (youth@detroit.goarch.org) for details.

Orthodox Marketplace – Find books, CDs, and the resources from the Department of Youth and Young Adult Ministries. Visit www.orthodoxmarketplace.com.

Orthodox Christian Network – OCN offers radio programs and podcasts that are geared specifically to teens. Visit www.myocn.net to find OTTO (Orthodox Teen Talk Online).

IDEAS FOR EVENTS — Need ideas? Here are a few to get started!

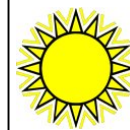

FAMILY FUN NIGHT: Gather youth and parents for food, games, crafts, Bible Study, and more. This is a great opportunity to present the year's schedule and discuss other youth ideas with parents.

YOUTH MIXER: A new ecclesiastical year might bring new members to your youth groups. Kick start the year by offering social events that help young people get to know each other. Don't forget to incorporate great icebreakers and teambuilding activities to build a sense of community!

YOUTH SUNDAY: Get the youth AND the entire parish excited about the youth ministry programs of the community by designating a Sunday in September as Youth Sunday. Offer youth an opportunity to serve in different ways (ushers, greeters, reader for the Epistle). After Divine Liturgy, youth ministry leaders can be available to meet with parents for signing up and distributing the youth event schedule.

YOUTH BRAINSTORM: Gather the teens of your youth group for a night of pizza and brainstorming. Using the Four Circles of Youth Ministry (Worship, Witness, Service, and Fellowship) as a guideline, offer teens an evening to brainstorm what they would like to accomplish during the year.

On July 14-17th the Mid-Eastern Federation of Greek Orthodox Church Musicians (MEFGOX) held its 64th annual convention in Ann Arbor, Michigan. We were graciously hosted by Father Nicolaos Kotsis Proistamenos, the choir and community of St. Nicholas Greek Orthodox Church. There were 107 singers in attendance during the weekend of activities. Niki Wardner and her committee saw to every detail and delivered a well-planned convention. With the support of the National Forum of Church Musicians, several Church Music Institutes were held with presenters Pam Cramer, of Houston, Texas, Father Irenaeus Cox, of Saginaw, Michigan, and Dr. Mitsias, of Detroit. Over the last several years the instruction has focused on achieving excellence in vocal production, the learning of chant, and learning more about our faith and musical traditions. We were graced by the presence of His Eminence, Metropolitan Nicholas three out of the four days.

The weekend culminated with the presentation of Chris Zervos's second liturgical arrangement. Chris, who is from Toledo, is a long-term member of the Federation, having held numerous positions in MEFGOX as well as the National Forum. The lit-

MONTH OF AUGUST DEDICATED TO PANAGIA

By Fr. Michael Varlamos*

Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

Many agree that the month of August is dedicated to the Mother of God. We are therefore encouraged to take time and reflect on the person of the Virgin Mary as the one selected by God to be His earthly Mother and our role model for true Orthodox Christianity. Let us briefly see why.

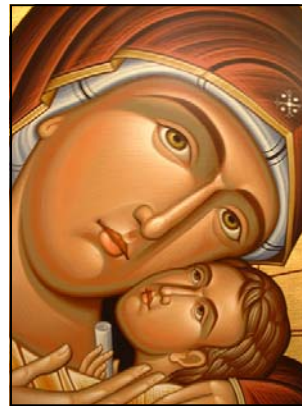

The Virgin Mary had placed God at the center of her life. She was not a part-time follower, as we should not be part-time Christians. God was not simply a part of her life, but the essence of it.

The Theotokos teaches us that she freely chose to join herself to God. "Behold, the handmaiden of the Lord..." (Luke 1:38), she said. God did not force her to enter into a relationship with Him, just as He does not force us to believe in Him. God stands at the door of our heart and knocks. He invites us everyday to let Him in.

The Theotokos is a perfect example of humility. The origin of the word "humility" literally means to be "down to earth." That is, we must have a humble relationship with God and others. Pride, on the other hand, causes us to view ourselves as the center of our reality and that all others, even God, as objects that revolve around our self-centeredness. The Theotokos was just as human as we all are, but through her humility she joined herself to God and became "full of grace."

Finally, the Panagia, by humbly and freely choosing to place God at the center of her life, experienced ultimate communion with God. This of course is the desire of every Orthodox Christian.

We, as she did, must place our relationship with God above all other priorities in our life. If our relationship with God is sound, then the foundations are laid for all other relationships in our lives to be godly.

Let us embark upon this holy season asking for her intercessions as she guides us to her Son and our God by word and example. Let us in humility freely choose to place God at the center of our life, entering in communion with Him, that we may experience what it means to have true Christian joy.

In Christ,
+Fr. Michael

urgy was very capably directed by Evey Simon from Troy's St. Nicholas Church. Evey was awarded the Athenagoras Medal at the Saturday evening Banquet for her outstanding contribution to her church and Metropolis musical programs. She has served as clinician for numerous workshops and served as Guest Director for our Federation and others. In addition to the usual members who attend, this year we were blessed to have with us a group of talented young adults and teens who sounded like a chorus of angels. Evey took them under her wing and worked with them during the weekend so that they contributed their own parts to the Liturgy and also participated with the mass choir. They also entertained us on Friday evening with a Talent Show.

MEFGOX also has a longstanding memorial scholarship program to promote the study of music, conducting, learning of piano or organ, and chant.

This year the Federation was able to award four scholarships to worthy recipients from across the Detroit and Pittsburgh Metropolises. Next year's convention will be held in Rocky River, Ohio, St. Demetrios Church.
